APRIL 9-11, 2018
WASHINGTON HILTON HOTEL
WASHINGTON, DC
Dear Friends and Colleagues:

Over the last year, NCRC and our members had outstanding success creating economic opportunity for low- and moderate-income communities and communities of color. Nationally, we secured $62.6 billion in community benefits agreements, a victory that will help thousands of low and moderate-income individuals become homeowners, start small businesses, and access fair banking services. Together, we are showing the power of grassroots community groups and the Community Reinvestment Act to create a just economy.

This achievement is just one example of the work we and our 600 members and allies do every day to ensure the financial services needs of average Americans. NCRC advocates for policies that promote economic fairness and carries out the research and analyses that back up these policies. We work to uphold fair housing, lending, and consumer protection laws. We offer training for business development and housing counseling, as well as provide housing counseling directly to homeowners. Through our GROWTH initiative, NCRC connects individuals and families with the job training and housing opportunities they need to build wealth.

NCRC works hard to be the voice of economic justice in our nation’s capital. In 2017, we look forward to continuing our successes and expanding wealth building opportunities in communities across the nation. We stand for working Americans and the belief that everyone deserves equal and fair access to economic opportunities, and we welcome you to stand with us.

Sincerely,

John Taylor
President and CEO

Robert Dickerson, Jr.
Chair, Board of Directors

Released a major analysis of home purchase lending in St. Louis, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, and the surrounding areas. The analysis, which received national press coverage, revealed racial and income disparities in mortgage lending in all three cities.

NCRC’s National Neighbors Silver published an Aging in Community working paper, in conjunction with the San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank, titled “Staying at Home: The Role of Financial Services in Promoting Aging in Community.”

Rallied dozens of members of Congress and U.S. senators, and over 100 national and local organizations, to call on federal banking regulators to modernize Community Reinvestment Act regulations; rallied members of Congress to press regulators to ensure that Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac fulfill their affordable housing mission.

Testified before the U.S. House of Representatives on the importance of applying consumer protections and the Community Reinvestment Act to the growing online marketplace lending and financial technology sector.
In 2016, NCRC and its members negotiated three separate Community Benefits Agreements from KeyBank, Huntington Bank, and Fifth Third Bank totaling $62.6 billion! NCRC provides crucial support to its members by providing a thorough understanding of the Community Reinvestment Act (CRA), and other tools that ensure everyone has an equal shot at achieving the American Dream. NCRC is proud of its members who work on a daily basis to improve underserved neighborhoods by engaging financial institutions to increase lending and philanthropic investments to nonprofits doing important community development work.

California Reinvestment Coalition (CRC) led member-driven campaigns to negotiate Community Reinvestment Agreements with both Cathay Bank and Bank of Hope. Both banks agreed to increase and diversify loans, investments, and financial services to low and moderate income communities and communities of color to at least 15% of their statewide deposits over ten years. CRC’s agreement with Bank of Hope will result in just under $4 billion in CRA activity while Cathay Bank’s will generate over $4 billion in CRA activity.

Chattanooga Organized for Action released a report on major discriminatory lending practices, entitled Whose Reinvestment: The Failure of Equitable Home Lending in Chattanooga. The report examines racial lending disparity in Chattanooga, disinvestment in largely minority sections of Hamilton County, and the lack of accessibility to bank branches in high-minority and/or low-income census tracts in Chattanooga.
MEMBERSHIP AND POLICY

In 2016, NCRC and its member organizations used the Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) to negotiate three community benefits agreements that, over the next 5 years, will allocate $62.6 billion into low-and-moderate income (LMI) neighborhoods and communities of color, and create additional resources for nonprofits that do vital community development work.

KeyBank’s Community Benefits Agreement will:

- Fund $5 billion in mortgage lending to low- and moderate-income (LMI) communities
- Fund $2.5 billion in small business lending to LMI communities
- Fund $8.8 billion in community development lending and investment
- Establish $175 million in philanthropic commitments
- Cease financing payday lending activity
- Halt the closure of four LMI branches and open a new branch in an LMI census tract in East Buffalo

NCRC has built a membership base of over 550 organizations nationwide, including community development corporations, civil rights groups, local and state government agencies, and religious institutions. NCRC supports and empowers its members to be effective leaders in their communities and engages them in support of national legislative initiatives. Members range from large national nonprofit organizations to regional nonprofit groups based in communities of color and low- to moderate-income (LMI) neighborhoods that offer a variety of programs, including small business micro lending, housing development, and community organizing.

By providing training, technical assistance, access to comprehensive research, data analysis, federal policy updates and opportunities for engaging, NCRC helps its members enhance their capacity for engaging in effective reinvestment and advocacy strategies.
POLICY AND GOVERNMENT AFFAIRS

One aspect of NCRC’s mission is to give our members a strong presence before Congress. Through direct advocacy, testimony on Capitol Hill, and powerfully coordinated nationwide actions, this coalition works together to develop public policy solutions that promote community wealth building. One result: NCRC spearheaded the process to stop Congress from dismantling affordable housing goals that help millions of people become homeowners.

The Fifth Third Community Development Plan will:

- Fund $11 billion in mortgage lending to LMI individuals and communities
- Fund $10 billion in small business lending in all markets and communities to businesses with gross annual revenue below $1 million
- Fund $9 billion in Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) community development loans and investments. This includes support for affordable housing, revolving loan funds, Community Development Corporations, Community Development Financial Institutions, community pre-development resources, housing rehab loan pools, and community land trusts and land banks
- Fund $93 million in philanthropy
- Work to ensure adequate access to bank branches in LMI communities and communities of color, including opening at least 10 new branches

Huntington’s Community Development Plan will:

- Fund $5.7 billion in single-family mortgage lending in low- and moderate-income (LMI) areas
- Fund $6.6 billion in small business lending including within LMI areas
- Fund $3.7 billion in community development lending and investment targeting affordable housing access and community-based loan funds
- Fund $25 million of additional grants and philanthropy primarily targeting housing and small business credit service access
- Create $30 million in further economic impact through support including new branch locations within LMI areas and/or majority minority areas; the addition of dedicated community mortgage loan officers; and the formation of a dedicated mortgage processing team to handle unique underwriting opportunities
RESEARCH

In July 2016, NCRC Research released a highly anticipated Home Mortgage Lending Report. This report examined income and racial disparity in home mortgage lending in the cities of Milwaukee, Minneapolis and St. Louis. NCRC, in collaboration with local members, produced a series of maps, performed statistical analyses, and conducted interviews, providing strong evidence of significant disparities in lending within each city. In the highly segregated cities of Milwaukee and St. Louis, the racial composition of a neighborhood is a strong predictor of mortgage loan activity. The report found, in all three cities, the ability for working people to build wealth is severely impacted by the lack of availability of credit in minority and low-to-moderate income neighborhoods.
ANNUAL CONFERENCE AND EVENTS

NCRC’s annual conference is one of the largest national gatherings of community non-profits, policymakers, government officials, small businesses, media, and academia, all focused on how we can create a more just economy to improve the lives of American families by strengthening access to credit and capital. Each conference offers a broad selection of exciting, cutting edge workshops and plenaries on access to capital and credit, housing, community organizing, policy advocacy, workforce and community development, and business development.

2016 NCRC Annual Conference

Hill Day is an event held every year during the conference at which participants have the opportunity to meet with and advocate to members of Congress and their staff on behalf of their communities.
MEMBERSHIP AND POLICY

Regional Reinvestment Summits

NCRC periodically hosts reinvestment summits in areas that continue to see real and devastating effects from the economic downturn. This gives us the opportunity to focus strategies and tools for wealth building in specific areas, and to allow our members in those regions to explore in depth the challenges and opportunities for improving their communities.

Louisiana Summit

A decade after Hurricane Katrina, Louisiana has experienced economic growth, innovation, and increased entrepreneurship in the Bayou State, however these opportunities have not been available to everyone. That is why the National Community Reinvestment Coalition (NCRC) hosted a statewide summit in September in New Orleans on community reinvestment and neighborhood revitalization. There were over 200 attendees from a variety of community organizations across the state of Louisiana in attendance at the summit who took part in trainings and workshop sessions. The Summit included workshops on community wealth building, environmental impacts on housing, healthy communities, overcoming barriers to banking services, capital and credit for minority businesses, foreclosure prevention, workforce development, the Community Reinvestment Act, and community development partnerships.

The Louisiana Reinvestment Summit featured keynote addresses by New Orleans Councilmember Jared C. Brossett and New Orleans Councilmember-at-Large Jason Rogers Williams. The Summit was presented in partnership with Foundation for Louisiana, Greater New Orleans Housing Alliance, HousingNOLA, LiftFund, Multicultural CDC, Neighborhood Development Foundation, Northwest Louisiana CDC, Puentes, and Urban League Women’s Business Center.

Barbara’s dream of becoming a homeowner came true in May, when she purchased a home in Cleveland Heights, an inner ring suburb of Cleveland Ohio. Barbara, an employee of the United States Postal Service, longed for the personal security and peace of mind in owning her own home. However, like many first time homebuyers, she struggled in saving enough to cover any down payment costs associated with purchasing a home. After completing Homebuyer Education at Home Repair Resource Center and working with a housing counselor she was able to establish a substantial savings and apply for down payment assistance programs. Barbara was finally able to see her dreams come true.

Being able to say ‘my home’ and letting my granddaughter come over and stay in ‘her’ room has been the best part of owning my own home, and I can finally do what I want with it”.

The Center for Civil Rights (CFCR), the enforcement arm of NCRC, is dedicated to creating public and private sector partnerships and programs that promote racial and cultural equality, opportunity and diversity. It achieves this by increasing multi-cultural dialogue and access, influencing public policy, and developing national models that support healthy and sustainable communities through the realization and enforcement of our nation’s civil rights laws.

Through the CFCR, NCRC convenes and supports workshops, conferences, investigates civil rights complaints, conducts education and outreach, fair housing planning, and “best practice” compliance initiatives. Additionally, the CFCR sends staff across the country to promote equal housing opportunity and the importance and use of fair housing, civil rights, and lending laws.
COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

GROWTH

NCRC, in collaboration with its member organizations and partners in the financial industry, has created the GROWTH (Generating Real Opportunities for Work Through Housing) Initiative, which is investing in single-family housing to help address the decline in homeownership among low- and moderate-income (LMI) families and communities of color. This initiative combines workforce training and family financial coaching to help families along the path toward homeownership.

GROWTH is designed to create pathways to homeownership for LMI families and improve property values in LMI communities. The initiative purchases, renovates, and sells homes in LMI neighborhoods or to LMI families through its impact investment-driven fund known as the NCRC Housing Rehab Fund. The program also offers lease-to-own opportunities to those families who can sustain mortgage payments but may not qualify for conventional financing immediately.

GROWTH’s initial success has led NCRC to expand its focus to buying, renovating, and either selling or leasing-to-own up to 4,000 homes in selected communities across the U.S.

GROWTH is designed to achieve three main objectives:

• Build an inventory of affordable, secure homeownership options for LMI families through targeted investment in their communities.
• Provide housing and financial capability counseling to qualified homebuyers.
• Create construction jobs and workforce apprenticeship opportunities in those communities, as well as provide workforce readiness training.

In 2016, we undertook an initiative to revise and update our operating systems to ensure that NCRC remains resilient and efficient. After an extensive review of our current systems and interviews with senior executives and front-line staff we decided to focus on four key objectives:

- Leadership development
- Strategic implementation
- Impact assessment
- Investing in our technological infrastructure for constituent relations

STRATEGIC PLAN 2017-2021

Today, NCRC is fighting for the civil rights movement of the 21st century. Over the next 5 years, we have an ambitious strategic plan to move our nation significantly closer to our vision. Our aim is to intentionally expand the diversity and geographic footprint of our organizational members. NCRC is cultivating the next generation of activist leaders to expand our influence and impact. This in turn, will grow our local, state and federal advocacy and organizing efforts. We will increase available information about economic justice to a much broader audience in ways that speak to their unique interests and needs. Lastly, NCRC is turning up the heat on creating a fairer and more equitable economic and financial services system.

NCRC is making the next five years, January 2017 through December 2021, a period of bold growth, leading with expanded advocacy and organizing in collaboration with NCRC’s national membership through the following four goals:

1. Mobilize a broader grassroots, inclusive, multi-generational, multi-ethnic national coalition.
2. Influence and hold accountable public policy makers and financial sector business leaders for decisions that impact economic prosperity for people and communities with low and moderate incomes.
3. Position fair access to credit, capital and housing prominently in the media and policy debate nationally and locally.
4. Strengthen financial, organizational and governance capacity to facilitate NCRC’s strategic direction and sustain its momentum.

Washington, D.C.

I have audited the accompanying financial statements of National Community Reinvestment Coalition, Inc. (NCRC), which comprise the statement of financial position as of December 31, 2016, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Auditor’s Responsibility
My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audit. I conducted my audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that I plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatements.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amount and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity’s preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control.  Note: In 2016, NCRC purchased a new office building to serve as its headquarters located at 740 15th St. NW in Washington, D.C. The building is being used to house NCRC employees with additional floors leased to other nonprofit and community organizations. The purchase of the new office building and costs attributed to the leasing process are reflected in the negative amount in net assets.
Built in 1907, the Union Trust Company building is the former headquarters of the American Bar Association. It occupies the site of Wormley’s Hotel, built in 1871 by James Wormley, a free-born Black entrepreneur.

As NCRC celebrates our 25th anniversary, we view this move to a new headquarters as part of our overall plan to further expand our organization and its reach,” said NCRC’s President and CEO John Taylor. “NCRC’s new offices are designed to aid collaborative flow among all departments, creating an environment that will greatly help us carry out our mission.”
BOARD OF DIRECTORS

NCRC’s board of directors is made up of 21 community and thought leaders from around the country. Board members are elected by NCRC’s members. We are grateful for their leadership, guidance and notable experience, which allow us to be effective agents of change.

NCRC MAKES A DIFFERENCE

• Low- and moderate-income communities, communities of color, and other underserved communities face discrimination and other barriers to accessing banking, housing, and business development despite federal and state laws. NCRC is a strong national force that holds financial institutions accountable for fair access to capital and credit in all communities.

• NCRC is a resource for community-based organizations across America for the latest policy, research, and data available on community reinvestment.

• NCRC is a voice for its members in Washington, representing them before Congress and federal agencies.

• NCRC provides training, technical assistance, and support and counseling services to ensure that our members and other individuals and organizations have the tools they need to be effective advocates.

• NCRC creates opportunities for upward mobility and wealth creation across America.
